HOUSE OF COMMONS.

The Address of the Governor-General Read in the House Yesterday.

Col. Prior Seconds the Address To-Day Owing to Mr. Earle's Illness.

Ottawa, Jan. 16.—The House opened at three o'clock with the usual ceremony. Owing to indisposition, Lady Stanley was unable to accompany His Excellency. Col. Prior, A.D.C., was in attendance. In the Commons, Hon. C. C. Colby was introduced by Sir John and Sir Hector Langevin. Thomas Earle was introduced by Sir John and Col. Prior. Rufus Pope was introduced by Sir John and Hon. Mr. Colby.

The following is the full text of the speech with which His Excellency the Governor-General was pleased to open the Parliament of Canada yesterday:

Honorable Gentlemen of the Senate:
Gentlemen of the House of Commons:

In calling you together again for the consideration of public affairs, I may fairly congratulate you on a continuance of the progress and prosperity of the country.

During the recess I visited Manitoba and the Northwest Territories and British Columbia, and everywhere I found myself received with the loyalty and good-will which I have learned to be characteristic of Canada. A comparison of my own observations with those of my predecessors shows clearly the great progress which has marked this part of the Dominion in the settlement of the country and in the development of its great agricultural capabilities, of its mineral wealth and of its other natural resources.

In consequence of the repeated seizures by the cruisers of the United States navy of Canadian vessels while employed in the capture of seals in that part of the North Pacific ocean known as Behring sea, my government has strongly represented to Her Majesty's ministers the necessity of protecting our shipping while engaged in their lawful calling, as well as guarding against the assumption by any nation of exclusive proprietary rights in those waters. I feel confident that those representations have had due weight, and I hope to be enabled during the present session to assure you that all differences on the question are in the course of satisfactory adjustment.

Having observed the close attention which has recently been given by the imperial authorities and on the continent of Europe to the improvement in the methods of catching, curing and packing fish, I deemed it expedient to cause a commission to be sent to Scotland and Holland to examine and report upon this subject during the fishing season. The report of the delegates will be laid before you. It will I am sure give our fishermen most valuable information and instruction as to the best means of improving and developing this important industry.

My ministers have carefully considered the difficulties which surround the administration of the rights of the Dominion in its foreshores, harbors, lakes and rivers, and a measure will be submitted to you for removing uncertainties as to the respective rights of the Dominion and of the provinces, and for preventing confusion in the titles thereto.

The report of the royal commissioners on labor which was laid before you during the last session has been distributed throughout the country. I have reasons to believe that the information it contains will be found eminently useful in suggesting improvements in the administration of the laws which affect the working classes. Measures for the amendment of those laws so far as they come within the jurisdiction of the parliament of Canada will be submitted for your consideration.

The early termination of the acts of incorporation of the principal banking institutions of the Dominion necessitates a review of our present system of banking and an adjustment of the terms under which the charters of these corporations should be renewed. Your attention will be drawn to this important subject.

Certain amendments to the acts relating to the Northwest Territories calculated to facilitate the administration of affairs in that region, as also a bill further to promote the efficiency of the Northwest mounted police will be submitted for your consideration.

Measures will be laid before you relating to bills of exchange and promissory notes, to improve the laws respecting patents of invention and discovery, to amend the adulteration act and the law respecting the inland revenue, to amend also the act respecting the geological and natural history survey of Canada, and to provide for the better organization of the national printing establishment.

Gentlemen of the House of Commons:

The accounts for the past year will be laid before you. It will be found that the estimates of revenue have been realized, and that after having fully provided for the various public services of the country, a substantial surplus will remain. The estimates for next year have been framed with a due regard to the requirements of the public service.

Honorable Gentlemen of the Senate:
Gentlemen of the House of Commons:

I commit these weighty matters and all others which may come before you to your earnest consideration, and I rely upon your wisdom and prudence to deal with them in the manner which, under divine providence, may prove most conducive to the happiness and prosperity of Canada.

MR. EARLE, M. P., ILL.

Attacked with Influenza and Unable to Second the Address.

Special to The Times.]

Ottawa, Jan. 17.—In the House of Commons this afternoon the address in reply was moved by Mr. Pope and seconded by Mr. Prior, Mr. Earle having been taken ill this morning and was unable to do so.

He is suffering from influenza and is attended by Dr. Ferguson, M. P., of Welland.

In seconding the address Prior made a glowing picture of the prosperity of the people of British Columbia and Victoria in particular. He referred to the loyalty of those west of the Rocky Mountains, which was intensified by the construction of the Canadian national highway. He hoped that the Behring Sea difficulties would soon be settled in the interest of Canadian sealers. Laurier followed, pressing the government to adopt reciprocity with the United States, and Sir John made one of his usual replies, after which the House adjourned at 5 o'clock.

In the Senate Major Boulton moved the address, attired in his regimentals. Longhead seconded it.

DEATH OF WALKER BLAINE.

Acute Pneumonia Follows a Slight Illness and Becomes Fatal.

Washington City, Jan. 15.—Walker Blaine, examiner of claims in the state department, and eldest son of Hon. Jas. G. Blaine, secretary of state, died at the family residence at 8:20 o'clock this evening of acute pneumonia, superinduced by an attack of grippe. He had been ill only a few days, and his death is a sudden and severe shock to the unusually large circle of friends who were not aware he was so dangerously ill until this morning. The family are prostrated with grief. He was not feeling well all last week, and finally he became much worse, and was compelled to take to his bed.

VAST NAVAL SCHEME.

Plans for U. S. War Vessels to Cost $280,000,000.

Washington City, Jan. 15.—The naval board of policy appointed to formulate a plan for building a navy commensurate with the dignity and power of the nation, in their report to the secretary of the navy will recommend the construction of ninety-two vessels of different types and sizes, and these will be built according to the ideas of the board in fourteen years, and will cost, together with their maintenance during fourteen years, $280,000,000. They say the cost of maintenance of a fleet of vessels such as they propose would be only one-quarter that of keeping up the same number of old-style vessels.

The scheme of the board comprises the following vessels, the estimated cost with armament complete, as appended: Ten battle ships of 10 000 tons, $5,000,000 each; eight of 8,000 tons, $500,000 each; twelve of 750 tons, $450,000 each; five of 600 tons, $360,000 each; ten rams, 3500 tons, $800,000 each; nine armored cruisers of 6,250 tons, to make nineteen knots an hour, $330,000 each; four protected cruisers of 4,800 tons, to make twenty-two knots an hour, $350,000 each; nine protected cruisers of 5,400 tons, to make twenty knots an hour, $280,000; two protected cruisers of 4,000 tons, to make nineteen knots an hour, $205,000 each; five special cruisers of 1,300 tons, to make eighteen knots, $250,000 each; fifteen torpedo cruisers of 9,000 tons, to make twenty-two knots an hour, $500,000 each; three artificers' ships, $200,000 each. The eight ships which the secretary recommends in his report shall be begun at once are not the eight proposed by the board, but eight of the first ten.

VICE IN MONTREAL.

Scathing Address Upon Modern Morality—White Cross Society.

Montreal, Jan. 15.—Society in this city and at Ottawa has been turned inside out by a sensational speech delivered before the White Cross Society by Rev. D. Douglas, ex-president of the Wesleyan Methodist college. It was the most sweeping denunciatory arraignment of social leaders and public officials ever heard in Canada. There were many ladies in the audience. After comparing Montreal with London as described by the Pall Mall Gazette, he denounced the modern drama, referring particularly to "Camille," the representation of whose character he scored unmercifully, asking why the life and death of an utterly abandoned woman should be portrayed before decent people.

Speaking of it he said: "Your dowager duchesses draw forth their perfumed handkerchiefs and gaze with their weeping eyes upon this burlesque of grim death, but these same duchesses have no compassion, no tears for the scores of Camilles that languish in city hospitals. It is time some one should lift up his voice in this city against the influence of our modern stage.

"I impeach the booksellers and newsvendors as at war with virtue. Look at the sons and daughters of most Christian families! What company do they keep? In the retirement of their own room, in the silence of the midnight hour, they companionate with vagabonds and profligates and outcasts, creations of these Braddons, Ouidas and Swinburnes, with the product of the foulest minds of our age.

"I impeach the moral sense of our city for its criminal indifference to the character of its public men. This city has elected men from whose homes virtue has fled, men who have sought to introduce the Ottoman seraglio into our country, men whose lives are a perpetual defiance of the seventh canon of the decalogues."

Dr. Douglas went on to say that many members of parliament are men at the very mention of whose name virtue blushes and modesty hides her head. Their record is pestilential. He wound up with a most scathing denunciation of society men who prey upon virtue.

SHORT TELEGRAMS.

Items of News from Various Canadian Points.

Mr. Drexel, Mercier's supporter, has been elected to the local legislature for Berthier county.

T. T. Coleman, chief of police, Bowmanville, aged 67, died this afternoon of acute inflammation of the lungs, following upon an attack of la grippe.

Lady Stanley is seriously ill with what is believed to be an attack of la grippe. In consequence of her illness the usual reception at Rideau Hall will not be held to-day.

The trial of Dr. Foster of Bowmanville, charged with procuring an abortion on Mrs. Bray, daughter of F. H. Torrington, which caused her death, has been postponed till the next sitting of the court.

Campbell Hanna, a farmer of Wingham, Ont., drowned himself in the Maitland river, which runs through his farm, to-day. Three neighbors saw him jump in and one of them had a very narrow escape from drowning in endeavoring to rescue him.

There was a good deal of Ontario bank stocks offered at Toronto yesterday afternoon, and quotations declined several points. The cause of the selling is attributed to reports of heavy embezzlement by several employees, which, however, turned out to be grossly exaggerated.

The following appears in the Ottawa correspondence of the Empire: "It is hoped that the session will be a short one, and a big effort will be made for prorogation to take place on the Thursday before Easter, which will be April 3rd, making a ten weeks' session. This would be less than the average session.

The trial of Thos. Kane, for the murder of his wife, was concluded at the criminal assizes at Toronto yesterday, and he was found guilty of murder. The jury recommended him to mercy on the grounds that he was under the influence of liquor when he committed the crime. Justice Street sentenced the prisoner to be hanged on February 12th.

COMMENTS AND NOTES

Spectator Again Criticises Gladstone and Blaine's Literary Duel.

Blaine May be Pardoned for Displaying a Little Asperity of Temper.

It must be freely admitted by all that it would be unfair to view the two articles on Free Trade and Protection that appear in this month's North American Review in the light of an exhaustive argument. Everything is not said that could be said on the side of Free Trade. Mr. Gladstone, with many courteous apologies for coming to intrude from across the water with criticisms of American Legislature, merely lays down the general principles of the political economy of which he is the champion. Mr. Blaine had the privilege of reading this article before replying, and consequently had great advantages over his opponent, who could not know what special points would be attacked before the controversy can be considered at an end there should be another article from Mr. Gladstone in reply to Mr. Blaine. Then only can the merits of the question be fully judged. Mr. Gladstone retains his serene good temper throughout the article, and his references to America, when speaking of its earlier career, and also when prophesying for the "majestic figure about to become the largest and most powerful on the stage of the world's history," an inevitably brilliant future, are always frank and generous. Of course he cannot advocate the system in which he believes without condemning unsparingly one that is entirely opposed to it. But the persistent adherence of England and America to such violently contrasting legislation implies, says Mr. Gladstone, a reciprocal reproach, even if open discussion of the respective merits and demerits of the two systems were avoided. Mr. Blaine makes the customary bows and salutes to his opponent when he first takes his place opposite to him. But as the combat continues a certain bitterness of feeling becomes visible, and finally, despairing perhaps of making a deadly thrust, he permits himself to indulge in sneers. It is Mr. Gladstone's declaration that all protection is morally, as well as economically bad that rouses the sneers and provokes Mr. Blaine into the assertion that the English policy of free trade is urged where England can hold the field against rivals, and that when competition leaves her behind she repudiates free trade and substitutes the most pronounced form of protection. This "most pronounced form of protection" is the excessively high price paid for the carriage of mail matter, or in other words, the subsidising of mail steamers. But mail steamers, as we showed last week, represent only one per cent. of the shipping trade of England, and the government contract, described by Mr. Blaine as the most "pronounced form of protection," includes other stipulations besides those referring to the delivery of the mails, stipulations that might prove irksome and inconvenient to the owners, and are paid for accordingly. The accusation of protection is therefore a manifestly unfair one, and does not justify the remark with which Mr. Blaine dismisses the subject, that "Mr. Gladstone's code of morals will not secure much respect in other countries, so long as it spoils in salt water."

But Mr. Blaine may be pardoned for displaying a little asperity of temper on the shipping question, for higher protected ship building has almost succeeded in extinguishing the shipping trade of America. It may afford some slight consolation, however, to remember that the ship building trade is one in which it is granted that the profits of the capitalist and the wages of the workmen have been raised by protection. The community, on the other hand, has had to pay the price of the monopoly, and has, in consequence, found it unprofitable to engage in the shipping trade. Such high duties are imposed upon the materials required for shipbuilding that ships cannot be built in America at less than double the price for which they can be bought in unprotected markets. But still further to protect native industry an American is not allowed to buy a vessel built in any other country. Many years ago we Victorians bought the Yosemite, the Louise and the Ritbet from America, but owing to protection prices have risen so high in the States that when a couple of years ago, the C. P. N. Company required another vessel they had to go to Glasgow for the Islander. Still more recently Mr. Dunsmuir bought the Isabel, an old steamer on the Sound; but however much it might be to the advantage of any one in Port Townsent or Seattle to buy Mr. Dunsmuir's beautiful new tug the Lorne, which was built in James Bay, their protective laws would prohibit them from doing so. An American shipbuilder can practically force his countrymen to pay any sum he chooses to exact for those vessels which America imperatively needs.

Owing to the vast extent of her territory America, to quote Mr. Gladstone, is "not so much a country as a world," and domestic trade is conducted entirely on free trade principles. The foreign trade of America is only as one to twenty-five compared with the internal trade between the different states. Under a protective tariff nothing can be produced that can compete in neutral markets with articles of the like kind from England. Nevertheless Mr. Blaine boasts of the exports to Canada from the States and enumerates with pride the articles of American manufacture that are sold in Canada more largely than like articles of English manufacture. Bottles, flasks, "notions," and hotel furniture are among the articles he mentions. There are many reasons to explain the preference for these American goods. One reason is the smallness of the Canadian market which does not make it worth while for England to lay herself out to catch the trade by specially manufacturing for it. Suitable goods are made in the States to meet very similar wants in its own home market, and these can be procured easily, at short notice, and in small or large quantities by retail tradesmen throughout the Dominion. But if this export trade to Canada, of which Mr. Blaine boasts so much, were doubled, or trebled, or quadrupled the contrast between the foreign trade of Great Britain and that of the United States would hardly be altered. Canada has five millions of people. India, where the United States sends neither an ounce of produce nor a piece of goods, has a population of 200 millions, and it is to countries like India that England sends much of her produce. To South America, the Latin States, the United States sends nothing although it receives much of the produce of those States, such as coffee from Brazil. Owing to the protective system the trade with Brazil is of a triangular character of which England is the base. England sends goods and manufactures to Brazil in English ships, and pays for the coffee of Brazil and takes it to the United States, and goes back from the United States with raw materials, such as grain and cotton. As the question at present stands the trade of England is much greater than that of the United States, Germany, France and Russia all combined and added together, and this is the nut Mr. Blaine will find it very difficult to crack.

Mr. Blaine's most legitimate arguments and, as a consequence, the arguments which he most courteously advances, are those which he derives from the fundamental differences between the countries. Protection for England would mean starvation and misery for her people and death for her trade. In America, up to the present period of its development, protection has only modified its prosperity. Whether, under free trade conditions that prosperity would have been greater is the point on which Mr. Gladstone and Mr. Blaine disagree.

EUROPEAN NEWS.

The Prussian Diet.

Berlin, Jan. 15.—The Prussian diet opened to-day, and the Emperor's speech was devoted chiefly to proposed measures of internal reform, including the income tax, the acquisition of private railways by the state and the establishment of leasehold estates for the benefit of small farmers. The Emperor expresses hope that an understanding may be arrived at in regard to miners' hours and wages, which will result in lasting peace between owners and operators.

THOSE EXAMINATIONS.

To the Editor of the Times:

Sir,—Since the daily marks are the only true test of a pupil's progress, why is this farce of examination not stopped and this waste of one-month each half year of the precious time of the pupils prevented? As the education department has the only true test of the pupil's progress so conveniently at hand, does it not look like obstinacy on its part to refuse to act on the suggestion of our trustees to promote by those marks in order to prevent the waste of so much valuable time?

Citizen.

ALDERMEN AND SCHOOL TRUSTEES.

To the Editor of the Times:

Sir,—The electors of Victoria have, I am sorry to say, shown very little judgment in the selection they have made of men to represent them in the City Council. They appear to have studiously ignored those candidates whose qualifications would in any place other than Victoria, have entitled them not merely to be returned without opposition but to receive the high honor of the freedom of the city. It will for many years to come remain a blot on the fair fame of our fair city that men whose literary (not to mention other) attainments are so universally recognized as to secure their appointment as school trustees amid the loud acclaims of admiring citizens, should be rejected as unfit to represent the city on the Aldermanic Board. It is a deliberate insult to higher education and a menace to the advance of civilization and refinement. But electors, who are blind to their own interests and the welfare of posterity, may learn to their sorrow, before the expiration of the present year, that it is not sound policy to elect untried men as aldermen, when competent men are needed to watch over the interests of patients in the Jubilee Hospital and see that the horses of the fire department are properly housed and physiced.

Paddams.

Still Unworkable.

The condition of the telegraph wires is still deplorable. They gave a few spasmodic kicks to-day and then subsided into their normal condition of "incessous desuetude." Result: Only a few specials in to-day's Times.

The Special School Tax.

The Chief Justice gave his decision at 3:30 this afternoon in the case of the Attorney-General vs. the Victoria corporation. The decision declared the act imposing the special school tax on the cities to be constitutional.

Skating in the Park.

It may seem strange to some, but at present there is good skating on Goodacre Lakelet, and those who know of it are taking advantage of the fact. The ice since first forming has never thawed, and the recent frost has solidified it better than ever and now it is four inches in thickness.

MR. M'LEOD'S LETTER.

Judging of the character of the letter written by J. P. McLeod, principal of the High School, which appeared in The Times on Thursday, the spirit of Oliver Twist is abroad; that is to say, Mr. McLeod, with the approval doubtless of his confreres, has mustered up the courage to allude to the sapient Department of Education in sarcastic strain. We note this with some little satisfaction. It is not only a species of endorsement of the attitude of The Times, but it indicates a disposition to revolt against the edicts of a concern ostensibly educational but in reality political, and exercising powers as autocratic as those of the Czar himself. With regard, however, to the differences which exist between Mr. McLeod and the political machine misnamed the Department of Education, we will take no part. What we wish to point out is, the Educational Department having degenerated into a political machine, the time for reform has come. As a preliminary step "Honest John" should proceed to shuck himself of the educational husk. It is not in the nature of things that he should be able to administer the functions inseparable from the head of the Educational Department with proper disinterestedness, and actively participate in politics at the same time. It matters not how old the function is, whether it dates from the Magna Charta, or whether it was acquired by virtue of Confederation, the Provincial Secretaryship, and the "Minister of Educationship" are incompatible. The Provincial Secretary must be something more than human if he can minister educational affairs without political bias. Great stress is laid on the fact that the present government enfranchised the school teachers. It is made a subject of boast, as being an act prompted by sentiments of liberality and regard for justice. The truth is, however, when we come to examine into the animus of the thing, we find that the object was to promote political leverage. The educational department is essentially a political concern by reason of its chief being an official of the state. This man holds his office at the pleasure of the people. Even as he holds his job as a reward for political ability so is his position assured by the exercise of educational ability. He must give satisfaction in two separate capacities. Failing to do so in either and especially as head of the educational department, he is liable to have to step down and out. The enfranchisement of the teachers, therefore, was really nothing more nor less than an astute political move. It strengthens the party in power by just so many more votes. The teachers virtually are taken into partnership. They become a part and parcel of the concern, but they must hold their tongues. Let one of them presume to differ from the department and off goes his head. The department has no use for him. He is a standing danger to their political prestige, and that lost their occupation is gone. Now, is this actual enfranchisement? Is a man really enfranchised who is compelled to surrender his free agency? What shall be said of an educational department whose tyranny is so severe that a conclave of school teachers dare not discuss its measures? Whatsoever we say of a condition of affairs which makes it as much as a teacher's job is worth to consort with persons known to be in opposition to the government? Are we not justified in demanding the divorce of politics from education? Now, "Honest John" will not dispute the right to criticise his government. This, he concedes to be the privilege of every man, nevertheless Honest John does dispute the right of the teachers to criticise the acts of the educational department. True, he does not say so in so many words, but the fact of his having taken the teachers into political partnership, and having secured autocratic powers through the ignorant complaisance of the legislature, makes it plain that his philosophy is who is not for us is against us, and the sooner we "fire" him out the sooner we get rid of an element of danger to our "party." If the educational department was infallible we might accept the situation without murmuring. But the department is not infallible. Judging of its actions it is especially fallible, and judging from the precautions it takes, looking to the perpetuity of tenure of existence, it is evidently of the opinion itself that it is fallible. We hold that no member of the government should be in any way connected with the Department of Education in British Columbia. The Supt. of Education, whether appointed by the government, or elected straight from the people, as in the U. S. should be independent of government dictation, and should be solely responsible to the legislature for the management of the Department.

THE "MAINLAND SOCIETY."

With regard to the question of increased representation and the active part Vancouver is taking in the matter, as evidenced by the formation of a "Mainland Society," we note with satisfaction that remarks thrown out "inimical to the Island" by members thereof were "taken exception to," deprecated in fact as incompatible with the interests of the province. The Island, so far as heard from, in no wise opposes increased representation. The Mainland has grown wonderfully during the past five years both in population and wealth, and thereby is entitled to representation commensurate with its interests. That, however, increased representation should involve sectional friction seems to us absurd. In dealing with this matter, while the interests of the section which is to be represented should not be lost sight of, it must be borne in mind for all that the paramount object is the conservation of the interests of the province at large. The Mainland certainly has its own separate distinct interests, but are these interests so vitally important as to be paramount to all others? Would it be right, would it be patriotic that the new representatives for the Mainland should owe their elections to issues distinctly sectional, and inimical to the Island? Decidedly not; and as was said at the outset, we note with satisfaction that the "Mainland Society" is friendly to the Island, is imbued in fact with the right kind of public spirit. There is no occasion for sectionalism. It is utterly impossible that the interests of the Island and the Mainland should be diametrically opposed to each other. He who thinks otherwise has a vision circumscribed by either ignorance or deep seated prejudice. A friendly disposition on the part of the mainland will be reciprocated by the Island, and in the harmony prevailing mutual concessions will be praticable which would be impossible were hostility undisguised and irreconcilable.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The Victoria Times did not suggest, as is alleged by Westminster Truth, that "negroes from the Southern States should be brought into British Columbia to supplant Chinamen." What the Times said was: "That if we must import labor, the negro was preferable to Chinamen," or words to that effect. The Times is not "desirous of filling the province with negroes," but if the province must be filled with other than white men let that other be negroes, and for the reasons we gave. The negro is a Christian and thoroughly in sympathy with the customs of the whites.

"The Northwest people are calling for immigrants. According to the official figures, the total arrivals in Manitoba and the Territories during the last season did not exceed twenty thousand. That all who came remained as settlers is doubtful. At all events, even if they did stay the acquisitions for so large an area were small. In view of the poverty of the immigration, it is urged that a scheme of assisted settlement should be devised. This is to say, the country, in addition to giving land free, should furnish the means of reaching it." Give Manitoba a free market and there will be no need to assist immigration. Without a market free land is no great object.

"British Columbia," says an exchange, "is a great fruit-growing province; but unhappily the market for its product is local, and therefore restricted. Last season large quantities of plums went to loss for the want of purchasers. There would appear to be but one way in which the Columbians can do justice to their yield, and that is by treating it as they do salmon, namely, by preserving it. But preserving means a large use of sugar, and sugar, owing to the tariff, is relatively dear. Were sugar cheap enough the preserving trade could be pushed profitably and an export business could be done. But the taxes which are imposed to sustain the sugar industry kill the fruit industry." Here is an opportunity for New Westminster to set in motion some of its locked up capital. Victoria, too, might take the hint.

A curious question has arisen, remarks a contemporary, respecting the lighting of Roman Catholic churches. Archbishop Corrigan issues a request that the electric method be not used in the sanctuaries, until, at least, it is determined whether it can be employed without endangering human life. The Sacred College of the Propaganda at Rome has for some time had the question under advisement. The base of the inquiry is, What is electricity? Nobody knows and nobody can tell. There is also a question beyond that of the safety of people. It is ecclesiastical and religious. Much more than is known of this force or element will need to be known before the Roman churches will be lighted by electricity. While there is a doubt the Propaganda will not give its consent, meanwhile the Archbishop interposes his interdiction. The one Roman church in New York city where electric plants are in operation will set it aside until authority for its use shall be granted.

Little else was to have been expected than that with regard to England's peremptory treatment of Portugal the continental press should condemn the former, and in truth, admitting Portugal to be in the wrong, Salisbury's precipitation carries the air of a bully with it. It would have looked better had the premier been more patient. Salisbury's ultimatum suffers by contrast with his Behring Sea policy. But, after all, who's business is it? What are the continental papers going to do about it? In explanation of Salisbury's refusal to be patient with Portugal, at the request of Bismarck, it is said that he wished to settle the matter before it became the subject of an international debate. Nobody can blame Salisbury much for this. Debates of this kind are troublesome, and in the meantime English interests would be bound to suffer. On the whole there is little doubt that the quickest way to settle the dispute is the best. The time for intriguing is now passed, and those who are living in this disputed territory know who to look to for protection. If England has bullied, what else could Portugal have expected. Having got herself into a scrape, she should have made virtue of a necessity by receding from the position without the assistance of a kick.

That is what the miners used to pick up in Cariboo and Colorado years ago, but money is not made that way to-day. It is made by knowing where to buy and where in any line to get the best value for money invested, and at present if you want elegant Christmas chairs or any kind o furniture, we would advise you to see Hastie & Lockhart, at 62 Government street. Their Christmas chairs are indeed fine.

With exceeding regret the American residents in Victoria received the intelligence of your loss. They desire to express sympathy, knowing consolation is impossible. They hoped your son would have succeeded to that brilliant position in the service of the state you have so long occupied. It is their earnest wish that your younger children may prove a blessing and comfort to you in the loss of your first-born.

(Signed) EDGAR MARX S., Vice-Consul.

Sound Mail Contract.

The Union Pacific and the Puget Sound and Alaska Steamship companies have both sent in some very low bids for the Puget Sound mail contracts, as well as for the Port Townsend-Alaska contracts, which will be awarded by the government on July 1. The bids, it is understood, include daily service from Olympia via Tacoma and Seattle to Victoria and Whatcom, inclusive of all intermediate ports.

Nanaimo Civic Elections.

Voting for mayor and aldermen took place at Nanaimo yesterday. For mayor, John Hilbert polled 243 votes against his opponent's, Geo. Campbell's, 117, giving the former the unprecedented majority of 126. In the north ward Messrs. Craig and Nightingale were elected; in the south ward Messrs. Baker and Hilbert were elected; and in the middle ward Messrs. J. Abrams, W. H. Morton and E. Quennell were elected by acclamation.

Our Lumber Industry.

The reports of the Minister of the Crown Lands recently issued, states that there are 25 saw mills in the province, with a daily capacity in the aggregate of 170,000 or about 275,000,000 per annum. The acreage of timber leases held from the Provincial government amounts to 135,063 acres, and on Crown Lands, 10,930,400; timber leasehold, 9,429,565, private property, 3,342,352; total 31,878,384; royalty collected, $12,575.59; rebate on timber exported $3,051.48.

Delta Agricultural Society.

At the annual meeting held at Ladner's Landing, on the 13th instant, the following officers were elected for 1890: President, H. D. Benson; vice-president, E. Hutcheson; board of directors—J. Kirkland, W. H. Ladner, M. P., William Arthur, Wm. McKee, Thos. McNeely and J. A. Patterson; secretary, A. Gilchrist; treasurer, H. N. Rich. The society is in a very flourishing condition and with such a powerful committee is certain to have a big show next year.

Hardy Sons of Scotia.

It is very interesting to view the departure of the contingent of Scotch fishermen now located here on their daily fishing trips. A start is generally made at daylight, which would seem to those snugly housed "that it must be awful cold" during this season of the year. In truth it is, but these hardy Scots mind it not—weather is a secondary consideration with them. These fishermen are doing very well since being in the city, and are quite contented with their lot.

Saanich Railway Bonus By-Law.

In Chambers yesterday the argument on the application to quash the Saanich Railway bonus by-law was heard. The objections taken to the by-law, which have already been published, were some fifteen in number, the principal being that the by-law exceeds the powers of Municipal Act, since it grants money and exempts from taxation, that the mayor having an interest in the company was disqualified from acting with the council in the conferring of benefits on the company. Decision reserved.

Election of the Whole Council.

The result of the municipal elections, published in last evening's paper, were pretty much as people expected, unless it was in Johnson street ward, where it was expected the vote would be closer. The three aldermen having the highest number of votes in each ward are not elected for two years, as formerly, that provision having been eliminated from the Municipalities Act at the last session of the legislature. Accordingly the whole council will have to be elected next year, which many think is a better rule than electing one-third of the council for two years.

Lower Mainland Winter.

Never in the recollection of the oldest timer, says a correspondent, has this part (New Westminster district) of the province been visited with so unusually mild and balmy weather as during the present winter. Not only has the depth of snow ever before been known to attain the figures of 32 inches on the level. For the last week the climate of Westminster has held up a record for snow storms, cold and blizzards which would make a Norwegian shiver. If, as the scientists say, snow is a great fertilizer, the province should yield enormous crops of all kinds next season. We could well spare a few millions of tons of the fertilizer that the C. P. R. has no use for on Front street alone, not counting the surplus on Columbia and other streets that is going to waste.

NELSON ISLAND STONE.

British Columbia Products to be Pushed on the Market.

Mr. James Hall, representative of the Newcastle Island Quarry Co., was in the city yesterday on a flying visit connected with his company. It has long been known that the stone from Nelson Island is of the very best quality, and the wealthy and energetic company which has taken the business in hand are pushing it for all it is worth. In a conversation with a TIMES reporter, Mr. Hall stated that a large plant for sawing and finishing the stone is to be put in as soon as possible, the machinery being all ordered, and most of it on the spot.

The plant and workings will involve an expenditure of over $40,000, but for this outlay the best possible facilities for handling the stone will be had, consequently the stone can be placed on the market at a less cost than by other firms. The excellence of Nelson Island stone has been attested to by eminent architects and builders, the stone having been used in the building of the San Francisco mint.

The heads of the company are Messrs. C. J. Smith and Ben. Campbell, both well known railroad men and capitalists, who seeing that this stone was of first class quality bonded the island for 20 years from the Vancouver Coal Co, and in the near future British Columbia stone will be pushed in the markets of the growing cities of the west.

PROVINCIAL REPRESENTATION.

Vancouver Much Exercised Over the Subject—Inalienable Rights, &c.

The provincial committee, which was appointed at the meeting on Tuesday last, when the organization of a Mainland Association was perfected says the Vancouver News for the purposes described in our issue of yesterday, had a meeting yesterday and issued the following circular:

"At a meeting held on Jan. 14th, 1890, it was resolved to form a mainland political association and to invite all voters who may be willing to join it. The object of the association will be to organize the voting power of the mainland for the purpose of utilizing its strength to the fullest capacity. The association proposes to carefully avoid any controversial questions and a part of its business will be to allow no local differences, and to draw the voters of the mainland together, the object of the association being strictly confined to the strengthening of the hands of the mainland members in their endeavors to obtain a just measure of representation from the government. Every voter is requested to join the association and will have a full voice in its proceedings, any important step taken to be put to the vote.

You are earnestly requested to take your proper place and use the power to which you are inalienably entitled. A means is now offered to you by which you can take your part in the affairs of the province and use your voting power to the greatest advantage. It is proposed at once to hold public meetings and forward petitions on the subject of the representation of the mainland to the Lieutenant-Governor.

Steps will be taken to secure the adhesion to the plan of the association of as many of the voters of the mainland as possible. A number of the gentlemen from various parts of the province, who were yesterday in attendance on the annual meeting of the British Columbia Fruit Growers' Association, and they heartily entered into the matter and promised their support to the project to the utmost of their power in their several neighborhoods and expressed the satisfaction which they felt that such a movement had been initiated.

THE CIVIC ELECTION.

A Very Quiet Contest—Result of the Poll.

The contest for aldermanic honors in the several wards of the city was a very quiet and uninteresting one. There were no issues—personal or public—to fight over, and with the exception of Johnson street ward, where the interest in the proceedings was more noticeable, the electors had to be reminded about midday that an election was in progress. We were able to announce the result and to give the number of votes cast in each ward, but as there were a few errors we give below the correct figures:—

The "Queen's Mate."

The "Queen's Mate" is a revel of color and light, of charming costumes, pretty tunes, characteristic dances, touch-and-go jokes and general hilarity of an orderly and spectacular kind.

Laura Joyce Bell is a young queen who is held in reserve by a statesman very much as the young king was in the "King's Fool." While the statesmen are squabbling about the spoils of office, and the two most powerful ones are intriguing for and against the incognito queen, the latter and her foster-sister are receiving an education at a school for cadets, while they are dressed like the lads. Both have husbands—country fellows whom they married when they thought they themselves were simple country girls—and the curiosity and suspicion of these rustic spouses about their wives' frequent absences and their mysterious secret, give Digby Bell and Mark Smith an opportunity to be funny in the way that delights the average audience most.

The first act has a charming Spanish song and dance—the song admirably sung by Minnie De Reu, the dance delightfully done by eight graceful, prettily dressed coryphees. The soprano has a beautiful romance to sing, also, and the contralto (Mrs. Bell) an equally beautiful solo.

The chorus and drill of the cadets, which begins the second act, and the solo waltz and the chorus near the end of the same act, are the best pieces of concerted work. There is a gay little duet for the two girls when they are dressed as vivandieres, and two or three other noticeably pretty bits of music in the score.

They are not all free from reminiscences of other operas, but they are pretty enough to make the stealing almost justifiable.

This beautiful opera is the only one of the three to be produced by the Duff Co. which will be repeated. We shall have it Tuesday night and at the Wednesday matinee.

Now is the Time.

January is always one of the dullest months in the dry goods trade, and as a consequence all of the large houses mark their goods down to the lowest possible figure. Then is the time for the housekeeper with an eye to economy to buy her supplies for the year as far as possible. Many desirable winter goods are sold at a loss for fear they will have to be carried over until the next season, and as we still have many weeks of cold weather before us in all probability, we advise our readers to look into these bargains. We particularly desire to call attention to this day's advertisement of Messrs. J. Hutcheson & Co. of the Westside. Read it over.

A long delicious smoke are Special Favours.

Where to Buy Fuel.

All orders for wood, coal, coke, and bark of the best quality will be promptly filled at market prices, by A. C. Howe, Telephone call 62, or Scotch Bakery, 103 Douglas street. Dec. 23.

On Time.

Trains of the Esquimalt & Nanaimo railway are on time, there being no fresh fall of snow since Wednesday. The fall of snow on the summit is the heaviest known to the oldest inhabitant, and some of them have long memories when it comes to recalling a blizzard.

Performance Repeated.

In last evening's issue it was announced that the opening of the Victoria West Theatre would be completed on Saturday evening with a ball. The management desire THE TIMES, to state this evening that the above was scarcely accurate, correct version being that the dramas "Lost in London" and "Brother Ben" will be produced in compliance with a general request.

The Colquitz Water Case.

The case of the Colquitz water owners vs. the water commissioner came up before the Chief Justice in chambers to-day. The water owners were applying through their counsel to have the order enforced, which the court made some time ago, directing the water commissioner to write a letter to the plaintiffs concerning their claim. It appears a letter was written in accordance with the order, with which the claimants are not satisfied.

Favors Reciprocity.

Mayor Pearson of Winnipeg has returned from the east. While in St. Paul the other day he spoke as follows to a reporter: "In Manitoba there is a strong feeling of more open trade connections with the United States. You see the Dominion of Canada covers such a vast territory that the conditions favorable to one provinces are unfavorable to another. For instance, Manitobans think they would be greatly benefitted with reciprocity, but the people of Quebec are opposed to close trade relations. It is a fact, however, that the Canadian cotton mills cannot furnish more than about one-tenth of the needful supply of cottons for the home market, while in the United States Manitoba merchants can buy cotton 25 per cent. cheaper than in Canada. But then there is the impenetrable customs wall." In addition to the above Mr. Pearson expressed himself as being decidedly opposed to annexation.

Against Chinese Immigration.

A petition against the removal of any of the restrictions existing at present against Chinese immigration has received several hundred signatures at Vancouver and will be forwarded to Ottawa immediately:

The petition commences by stating that the business men and citizens of the city of Vancouver, British Columbia, desire to show that the efforts of a few persons to secure the removal of the poll tax of $50 upon Chinese immigrants, does not meet with the approval of the great body of our citizens; that the present tax, owing to the greater restrictions by neighboring countries, is far too low and furnishes little practical protection to the white laborer against a competition as unfriendly as it is degrading; that an abundance of Chinese labor means a scarcity of white labor, a condition of things calamitous to the general public; that from the Chinaman nothing is obtained but his labor—he does not assimilate or become a citizen, nor is he identified with or add to the prosperity of the people among whom he resides; that, as a rule, he is a mere lodger, saving up the great bulk of his earnings, to return to the country from which he came. The petition concludes by asking that the head tax be increased to $100.

Clearance Sale.

A clearing sale at Campbell & Simpkins, prices to suit everybody's pocket. The following are some of the figures: $35 suits for $30; $30 suits for $25; $15 pants for $12; $12 pants for $10; $10 pants for $8. Reductions on all other goods in the same proportion. Three doors south of the P. O. *tf

Success of the Special Favours is due to the happy blend of tobacco.
